Score of Thirteen to Six-The Augusta Club to Play This Afternoon

The exhibition game Sunday between the locals and the Columbus team was the best game of the kind ever played here so far as scientific playing is concerned. There was more heavy batting done than is usual in a regular game, but there were many good plays and sharp fielding to set it off. The attendance was large much the country was year much interlarge, and the crowd was very much interested. Dutchy Strauss amused the crowd ested. Dutchy Strauss amused the crowd by going to sleep standing up when a fly ball went by him. Black, Carroll and Phelan of the locals and Cline and Collins of the visitors carried off the honors on the fielding. The locals made their runs as follows: Four in the third inning in hits of Graham, McSorley and Colgan and errors of Cline and Lyons; three in the fourth inning on a base on balls and bunched hits by Colgan, Hogan, Graham and McSorley; one in the seventh inning on error and two base hit of Phelan, and five in the ninth inning on six safe hits For twenty-four hours ending August 24, 1885, at 5 o'clock p.m., central meridian. on error and two case hit of Pheian, and five in the ninth inning on six safe hits and two wild pitches. The Columbus made four in the fifth inning on four safe hits and errors of Pheian and Brennan. and two in the seventh inning on a double-bagger, a single and an error of Colgan. THE SCORE.

What Mr. A. J. Carlin Thinks She Will Be Able to Bo. MEMPHIS, TENN., August 24, 1885. o the Editors of the Appeal: An article in your issue of the 22d instant relative to Mr. Lamb's Katie Isler is calculated to award praise where, we think, it is not due. Whi'st conceding the fact that Ed Geers is one of the squarest men on the turf, we think that the honor of handling this mare should be given to A.

J. Carlin, who drove her over the turf here in 2:29, and it is conceded on all sides by our best turfmen at home and abroad that this track is ten seconds slow. Mr. Carlin drove this mare before Geers ever touched her, and we are informed by Mr. Carlin that on one occasion when the drove her she showed 2:16 in the last quarter, with her knee boots down around the ankles. Capt. Forrest, Albert Jones and Mr. Lamb himself can verify this ention to this matter is to show that we have right here in our midst one of the best trainers in the country, to which all horsemen will bear testimony. Mr. Carlin is a modest and unassuming gentleman and does not desire to thrust himself forward, but if any fame should attach to the trotting of Katie Isler we think that Mr. Carlin is antitled to the presize for have Mr. Carlin is entitled to the praise for hav and in this connection it may not be im-proper to say that Mr. Carlin has driven Charles Gallina's Patti in 2:411, and only trained thirty days, seven seends faster than ever driven before, and that, too, over as notoriously a bad track as we have here. Respectfully, HORSEMAN. Space is cheerfully given for the above neat little, and no doubt well deserved, puff for Mr. Carlin. But no injustice was done him, and there is therefore no necessity for a correction. The plucky little mare is "under the exclusive control of Mr. Geers" and is likely to remain there until she passes from the possession of her present owner. The paragraph, which said nothing about Katie Isler's trainer ere, is as follows: "Katie Isler, the Memphis mare now trotting so rapidly into fame, will probably spend the remainder of her days on the turf. She is under the safety began to be feit. A sound of patting, some strong bubbles of explosive mirth, and now and then a faint whoop, were wafted through the keyhole. The door finally opened and a darky with a guitar emerged, smiling and bland. The judge sat smiling at his deak and explained: "You see he wanted license to play music on the streets, and I told him it was about cotton-picking time and we wanted no loitering. Finally he told me if I would hear him play I would give him a permit at once, and I told him to unlimber. He unstrung his guitar and a French harp and began. I wasn't much affected until he struck the "Gal I Left Behind Me." That was when you heard those mysterious sounds. It was I. When he got through I made him play it over again, and then I gave him a permit without another word. The last tune caught me." at all events passengers from Memphis were going through this city to New York for $7. This proved a bitter pill for the Western and Atlantic people, and to make the fun interesting they induced the Piedmont Air Line to join them in a fight against the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia railroad, and the rate was cut 20 per cent."

The fact is that the Memphis and Charleston, in common with other lines, was simply winking at the scalper. The Louisville and Nashville decided to do its own scalping, and ran nounced that his rates would be met over the counter, as they preferred to do their own scalping, and ran the rate to New York down to $7. It is not a "mystery where the cut." Meanwhile the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia declines to meet the cut. The Times adds: "Fearing all the Southern lines would be seen to read the provided in the war."
